Auditor's opinion

The Foundation has strong governance with well thought-out and risk averse guidelines for its caseworkers. It has quickly established itself as a representative of Muslims' needs within the society but not at the expense of its role within broader Dutch society through its numerous engagements and partnerships, in addition to its recent CBF accreditation. The Foundation has good understanding of the Islamic principles around Zakat and has religiously-sound procedures in place.

Furthermore, it is keen to consult scholars in order to further enhance its Shariah governance.
